OBJETIVO/S:

The objective of this paper is to present some conclusions on Brazilians perceptions and attitudes regarding the intensity of State participation in citizens' life.

METODOLOGÍA:

A specific research about this subject was developed recently by Ibope Opinião, allowing a sufficiently complete reading of this subject.

Moreover, the evolution of Brazilian public opinion on this subject from the 80's through 2006, will be analysed based on "Latinobarometro" (Ibope Opinião is the responsible for Brazilian operations).

RESULTADOS ALCANZADOS:

Example: "TYPE OF STATE PREFERRED FOR BRAZIL"

State with bigger participation in citizens' life	88%
State with small participation in citizens' life	6%
Don't know	6%

CONCLUSIONES:

Despite the historical little efficiency of Brazilian State, a majority of Brazilian adult population wants an increase of State participation in society as in citizens' life.
